

Learning Plan Sample: Therapeutic Nurse-Client Relationship #2

This sample Learning Goal page relates to the Therapeutic Nurse-Client Relationship, Revised 2006 practice document. It illustrates how to document: your learning goal; the activities to achieve this goal; and an evaluation of changes to your practice as activities are completed and the goal is achieved. All learning goals must also include a reflection of the elements.

Goal Page

This Goal is for QA Year:

Date created:

Last saved:

Goal

(What do you want to learn or achieve?)

I want to develop an inservice for nursing staff at my facility that identifies the risks associated with using social media, and the possible impact on the nurse-client relationship. I want to hold the session by the end of the summer.

Which practice document does this goal relate to?

- Therapeutic Nurse-Client Relationship, Revised 2006
- Documentation
- Nurse Practitioner
- Other (Practice Standards and guidelines)

(Select One...)

Timeframes to achieve my goal

Start date:

Expected completion date:

Actual completion date:

Activities and timeframes to achieve my goal

February: Review the Therapeutic Nurse-Client Relationship practice document and webcast.
March: Complete the online Therapeutic Nurse-Client Relationship learning module.
March: Read "Social Media: How this technology can help the profession" from The Standard, Fall 2011, volume 36, issue 3, www.cno.org.
April: Research and develop a glossary of various social media applications.
June: Complete a literature search on social media and nurse-client relationships; identify the most relevant articles for review.
August: Develop an inservice for nursing staff on the risks associated with using social media.

Add New Activity

Evaluation of changes to my practice or practice setting

I have a better understanding of how nurses are using social media, and the impact this technology can have on the nurse-client relationship.
I am able to provide guidance and support to nurses who are requesting information about social media, and who are looking for guidance on how to use it appropriately.

Add New Activity

I reflected on the following elements while completing this goal:

- Advances in technology
- Changes in my practice environment
- Entry-to-practice competencies
- Interprofessional care

Print Goal Page

Cancel

Save

Delete Goal Page